Keynote Speaker: Peggy Maki

How Technology-enabled Assessment Capabilities Enable Us to Remain on The Frontline of Our Students' Learning

Peggy L. Maki writes, speaks about, and consults with higher education organizations and institutions on the process of assessing student learning, an internally motivated and shared commitment to currently enrolled students' equitable progress toward achieving high-quality learning outcomes. Her forthcoming co-edited book, Transforming Digital Learning and Assessment: A Guide to Available and Emerging Practice and to Building Institutional Consensus, aims to assist educators in realizing the potential contributions of current and emerging learning technologies for teaching, learning and assessing student learning.
